www.TheLabelTeam.net

TLT's Tamper Evident Labels have been developed to provide customers throughout the food industries with peace of mind by providing protection from contamination through our new and improved Tamper Evident Labels for all different types of food containers that may be used.

Label performance is based on a number of critical elements such as:

Substrate - the type of food container materials used from glass and metals to plastics and papers.

Adhesive chemistry.

Facestock - whether paper or film.

Temperature range of when the label is applied to the substrate/container.

Temperature range during the life of the label/container.

How the label is applied to the container - whether by hand or machine.

These elements are critical in forming the optimal performance solution and have been the focus in the development of our Tamper Evident Labels, ensuring that they will perform as needed in the very important application of safeguarding your food.
